Announcement : 2-8-0 Consolidation, N Scale

We at Broadway Limited Imports are excited to announce a newly tooled N scale steam locomotive! N scalers have been begging for us to dive into making smaller steam locomotives and we listened!

These locomotives feature premium caliber paint, an operating smoke unit, accurate sounds, and many separately applied details such as handrails, grab irons, piping, tender ladders, whistle and bell.

In this production run, we have included eight different railroad versions, plus one unlettered model for those who want to customize their own railroad. Models with the Paragon4 Sound/DC/DCC decoder feature working smoke, while models with Stealth boards are DCC-Ready and come with an 8-ohm speaker already installed. Next18-compatible decoders can be easily added to these boards for even more control and features.

About the prototype: In the late 1800's, the 2-8-0 Consolidation quickly became a staple on railroads worldwide, offering a highly efficient alternative to the 2-6-0 Mogul. The Consolidations were capable of hauling trains twice as heavy at a fraction of the cost -- they revolutionized freight transportation.

Initially, only a few railroads adopted the design when Baldwin first introduced it. However, its reputation soared when the Pennsylvania Railroad made it their primary freight locomotive in 1875. In total, over 33,000 Consolidations were built in the U.S., with 12,000 exported and 21,000 serving domestically. The 2-8-0 wheel arrangement was also used in Australia, Canada, Finland, New Zealand, South Africa and many other countries around the world.

Today many Consolidations are preserved with a few still operating in excursion service. One of the most notable is the Southern Railway Ks-1 class No. 722, which was run in excursion service until 1985, and is now being restored by the Great Smoky Mountain Railroad.
