HONORABLE MENTION* JAMES LARKIN "THE POLAR EXPRESS"

We were excited to see how young modelers would bring train scenes from movies and TV shows to life, a theme we hoped would inspire creativity and storytelling. In hindsight, the challenge may have been a bit too ambitious, and that's on us. Because we didn't receive enough entries to fairly judge a full competition, we're taking this as a learning experience to ensure future contests are more accessible and fun for all ages. That said, one entry truly captured the magic of The Polar Express. The effort, imagination, and spirit behind this submission stood out, and we're proud to award a special prize in recognition of the work.

2025 WALTHERS MODEL RAILROAD SCHOLARSHIP

Wm. K. Walthers, Inc. wants to recognize the future of our hobby; the youth and young adults active in model railroading and pursuing a degree in one of the STEAM programs; Science, Technology, Engineering, Art or Math. Walthers awarded two deserving young adults one $2,500 scholarship each!

MEET THIS YEAR'S WINNERS!

MASSIMO FERLAZZO

Worcester Polytechnic Institute,
Aerospace Engineering

Massimo is a passionate model railroader whose love for the hobby has fueled both technical and creative growth. Through designing custom locomotive interiors, scenery, and replacement parts with 3D CAD, as well as undertaking full mechanical overhauls and electrical innovations like Arduino-based control systems, he has developed advanced engineering, coding, and problem-solving skills. He even turned his expertise into a small business to support his projects. Beyond the technical side, model railroading has been a meaningful artistic outlet and a way to connect with family, blending creativity, craftsmanship, and community into every aspect of his layout.

BRADY RINARD

Marietta College,
Petroleum Engineering

Brady's passion for engineering began with model railroading. What started with wiring a simple loop of brass track grew into designing and building full layouts from scratch. With limited access to hobby shops, he turned to flea markets and yard sales, where he learned to repair and restore vintage trains, an experience that honed his resourcefulness and problem-solving skills. From benchwork and wiring to scenery and historical research, the hobby introduced him to many dimensions of engineering. Ultimately, it inspired his pursuit of Petroleum Engineering, a field that also reflects the rich rail and industrial heritage of his Mid-Ohio Valley home.

Glacier Industrial Sands

Check walthers.com for current pricing.

Spot your new Trinity 3281 hoppers at this contemporary trackside industry - the Walthers H0 Scale Cornerstone Glacier Industrial Sands kit. While sand has been used for centuries to make building materials, glass and metal castings, you'll also find it in paint, fertilizer and plastics. Recently, "fracturing sand" or "frac sand" has become a hot commodity, used to break rock and improve the flow at new oil and gas fields. But you can't use just any kind of sand for any kind of product, which means it's got to be hauled long distances from producer to end user - a big job tailor-made for today's railroads and Trinity 3281 covered hoppers!

The Glacier Industrial Sands kit features:

- Contemporary trackside industry
- Prototypes transfer sand and other aggregates from trucks to covered hoppers
- Railcar loading area with safety harness beam
- Two conveyors, truck fuel tank, main office and guard shack
- Includes mixing bin, piping and double loading silos
- Printed company and safety signs
- Shown assembled, painted and weathered by modeler.
